Köln Bonn Airport now shareholder of AHS

As of 01.01.2016 Köln Bonn Airport will hold a 10% share of AHS Aviation Handling Services GmbH Holding which is based in Hamburg. In addition Köln Bonn Airport will acquire / acquired a 49% share of the local AHS-station „AHS KÖLN Aviation Handling Services GmbH” from the AHS Holding.

In 2010 the Airport withdrew from the P&O sector. AHS successfully advanced in this sector at Cologne / Bonn as well as at several other locations. Michael Garvens, Chairman of the Management board of Flughafen Köln/Bonn GmbH, sees a lot of benefits from this investment: “ Now we can offer our airlines an competitive all-round carefree package that also includes the P&O sector.”

Dr. Martin Roll, Managing Director of AHS, is very happy to have gained a strong partner like Köln Bonn Airport as shareholder. “Our local station in Cologne and our customers will benefit in a sustainable manner from this even closer alliance with the airport. I also very much welcome the investment in the AHS Holding, as it enables us to expand our shareholder network to 7 airports and will ever more firmly anchor AHS in the airport world.”

AHS was founded in 1956 and is the market leader in Germany with approximately 2.000 employees. Since January 1st 2016 shareholders of AHS Holding are: Hannover Airport (29,75%), Hamburg Airport (27,25%), Airport Bremen (12%), Stuttgart Airport (10%), Köln Bonn Airport(10 %), Münster Osnabrück Airport (10%) and Airport Nürnberg (1%).
